

Pinch Pleat

How to hang your curtains

- 1.) Pinch Pleat curtains are delivered ready to hang, complete with adjustable plastic hooks.
- 2.) The hooks can be moved to allow you to adjust the length of the curtain, simply slide them down the positioning bar.
- 3.) To reposition the hooks, hold a tape measure against the heading to mark where the hooks should be inserted. Slide the hook down to the correct position. If you go too far, slide the hook off the bottom of the bar then push it back on from the top. See Fig.1
- 4.) Make sure you have the same number of rings or glider hooks on the pole or track that corresponds with the number of hooks in the curtain. Don't forget to count the fixed end stop if you are using a track. See Fig. 2
- 5.) If using rings, in order to avoid the whole curtain sliding into the middle of the window when you close the curtains, you should position the first ring on the outside edge of the curtain at the end of the pole. See Fig. 3
- 6.) Dressing your curtains once up. All curtains need time to settle and it may take a few weeks for any creasing to drop out and the folds to fall correctly. Tip: to achieve a professional look, take a strip of fabric, ribbon or cord and loosely tie around each curtain to keep the pleats in place. Keep the curtains tied in position for a min of 48 hours. This will allow your curtain to develop distinct and even pleats.
